Editorial

Thought For THIS WEEK:

"Wherever there is love and loyalty, even though in a hovel, there is fairy land."—Charles Kingsley.

Will Youth Come Through?

The Editor of the TIMES-VIRGINIAN is interested in th part YOUTH will play in the return of America to mor balmy days.

Just after the World War there was a surge of youth t positions of importance. Youth all over the world was aflam with ideals and new ideas that were intensely practica Then something went astray as age-old cycles unfolded an age was called in to stem the depression. There they wer Andrew Mellon, Morgan, Harriman, Atterbury and Curtis.

Hitler is in his 30's. France is grooming a 29 year ol Sarbonne student for premier. Roosevelt himself is young an he is surrounded with men of middle years like Harry Byr and larruping Jim Farley. Age is entirely too parliamentar Our Washington scene is too cluttered up with high-blow cabals ... committee appointments, commissions and invest gating bodies. Youth will be unanimous and SIMPLER.

Virile young men and women will lead us out of th Depression.

WHAT OF THE YOUTH OF TODAY AND THEIR FIT. NESS FOR THE JOB AHEAD? IS YOUTH CHARACTERIZ. NESS FOR THE JOB AHEAD? IS YOUTH CHARACTERIZED BY HOPE, FAITH, UNREMITTING CONFIDENCE AND ENERGY?

Recently a citizen of our neighboring town of Pamplin dropped by for a chat with the editor. He remarked that five years ago young folks of the town ran off several nights a week to other and larger towns for shows and other amusements. They bought entertainment they didn't know how to find in THEMSELVES. But today, he added, things have changed. The Depression has made young people stay at home and entertain themselves. "We know each other better and like each other better down at Pamplin now than we did five years ago," this man concluded.

We made notes of this conversation for a future editorial. And we are using it now, because, we firmly believe that OPPORTUNITY lies ahead for YOUTH and that the heights will once more be scaled. The SOULTIONS to the problems of the nation will more than likely come from the virile minds of men and women between 30 and 60.

The extent of the depression won't be fully known until we see the greater brevity in 1933 bathing suits.

The Ohio State News wants to know if music is a luxury or necessity. Well, some of that over the air is a pain in the neck.

OPPORTUNE TODAY

It is related that the explorers who first rounded the southern coast of Africa, remembering their perilous sea voyage and the roughness of the cape, named the southernmost point, "Cape of Storm." Later they realized what the rounding of that point meant and of the new worlds it opened up, and they changed the name to "Cape of Good Hope."

LISTEN, FOLKS, TODAY IS THE DAY OF GOOD HOPE! TODAY IS ALIVE. FLING FROM YOUR DEPRESSED SHOULDERS THE WEIGHTS OF PAST FAILURES AND STAND ERECT. THE WORLD IS YOURS. ESTABLISH YOUR CLAIM ON THE GOOD THINGS ..... THE BIG THINGS OF LIFE.

THIS HOUR IS HANDED TO YOU AS A GIFT FROM THE OVERFLOWING STOREHOUSE OF TIME. STOP MOPING, DESPAIRING. FOR SHAME. TODAY IS A CHALLENGE TO MAKE GOOD! A STEPPING STONE TO A WORTHIER TOMORROW.

ABOUT BANKS

Now, as Editor of your HOME PAPER, I want to write a few frank words about BANKS.

Let me repeat to you words recently written by JESSE ISIDOR STRAUS, president of a New York department store. He says:

1. We put money into banks for safe-keeping and convenience.
2. Banks must be reasonably paid for that service.
3. Banks must therefore put part of our money out at interest legally, in order to make money to pay us interest and their own expenses of operation.
4. This is legal, proper and SOUND.
5. At no time—even PEAK PROSPERITY—could the banks have enough cash in their vaults to pay back all their depositors on short notice, without causing themselves and us unavoidable losses.
6. To expect them to do so is contrary to the commonsense of banking and would bring loss to us as well as to the banks.

That's the ABC's of banking. Every one of you who reads this has at some time or other felt the need of using money that you didn't have and have been willing to put up as security your farm, your home or your automobile or your salary, in order to get the benefit of cash to meet pressing obligations. In order to serve you in this need the banks had to let you have some of the money John Doe and Mary Smith had put with them on deposit. Very well—you met your obligations and paid back all the money you borrowed and prospered and made some surplus deposits yourself. Then John Doe or Mary Smith needed some money—so the bank loaned them of YOUR money on good security. They'll pay back, too.

When you owed the bank money, you DIDN'T WANT THEM TO COME AND POSSESS YOUR FARM OR HOME YOU HAD UP AS SECURITY.

So, you see, there are a lot of things to think about, about banking. Folks, our banks have stood by US. There's hardly a reader of this paper who hasn't been befriended by his banker on many occasions. The great portion of bankers, especially the rural bankers, have carried through nobly and stood between most of us and failure and loss.

We don't ask you, therefore, just for confidence in banks. We ask you for confidence in YOURSELF and YOUR MONEY that is at WORK doing GOOD in your community.

YOUR EDITOR ADVISES THAT YOU FORGET ALL ABOUT THAT SHORT BANK HOLIDAY—BECAUSE NOTHING IN VIRGINIA CAUSED IT AND IT DID NOT MEAN OUR BANKS WERE NOT SOUND. IT MERELY MEANT THAT SOME PEOPLE WEREN'T PLAYING FAIR WITH THEIR NEIGHBORS (They were selfishly demanding the money their banks had loaned out on good security and for the banks to pay them they would have to possess all the security the patrons had put up. And selfish because the people wanting to withdraw HAD NO LIGITIMATE NEED FOR THOSE MILLIONS.)

Maybe this frank talk about banking wasn't necessary here in Appomattox. But, I feel that it is well to ask that CO-OPERATION, FAITH, SERVICE and CONFIDENCE be more than words.

"Many men would feel better and enjoy better health if they could be led out and exercised every day like a valuable horse," says the Tiffin Advertiser-Tribune. Well, maybe that could be arranged if creditors were kept off the streets.

This is a good time to keep your shirt on—if you have one.

Throws Money Into River

A total of $18 of Uncle Sam's good currency got thunked into the historic waters of the James river at Wingina Tuesday. All of which goes to show that the laudable desire to have money isn't so hot, when the law is hot on one's heels and the money is stolen money!

George and Nathaniel Branch and Waverly Adcock, all colored, of near Buffalo, broke into F. R. Moon's store along the James, at midnight Monday night. They pilfered cigarettes, tobacco, candy and $18 in cash. Headed by C. H. Wood, a posse got hot on their trails Tuesday Morning and nabbed the men as they dashed across an open field at Wingina. The merchandise was captured in two suit cases—but the money had been tossed into the James. Magistrate George W. Cabell, of Norwood sent them on to the grand jury and they were carried by sheriff K. M. Baker to the Lovingston jail.

Kills Fox In Chicken House

W. N. Morris, of Hollywood, on the edge of Buckingham county, last Thursday killed himself a fox, but he got his game in an unusual place. Hearing a racket in his chicken house, he went out armed with a gun and beheld a fox preying in his chickens. One shot did the trick and that fox's last meal was limited to five chickens.

The Child Reader

by MARJORIE BARROWS
Editor, Child Life Magazine.

One afternoon many years ago a wharf rat on San Francisco Bay wandered into the Oakland Public Library. There, opening a bound volume of a children's magazine, he stumbled upon a story. It was a story about a boy like himself—a runaway, a gang leader of wharf rats, who had certain semi-piratical adventures, but who, after a hard lesson, learned of better ways of living his life.

Marjorie Barrows

Making of Jack London.

The dramatic, exciting story awoke in the young reader the uneasy consciousness of his own wrong actions. He wound out of that library resolving to lead just as adventurous a life but one that carried with it a clear conscience. So he joined the Fish Patrol, cruised about the bay, fought poachers, and before long began to write stories about his adventures.

That boy was Jack London. The experience of this famous writer occurs, in a rather less dramatic fashion, in the life of every boy or girl.

Careful investigators have discovered that next to persons, nothing has more influence on children than what they read. If a hero they admire acts under certain circumstances as they themselves would like to act, they'll remember it.

They imitate the Hero.

And when the time comes, they'll unconsciously be influenced by that hero's action and try to do likewise. The heroine's kindness, ambition, steadfastness, loyalty, the hero's resourcefulness, quick-wittedness, painstaking qualities, courage, magnanimity, modesty—all these examples "sink in" and are emulated both now and later. One story with hidden character-building values is worth a dozen sermons on the parents or teachers.

Let us try to see that this sort of a story, full of plenty of adventure for the boy, full of interesting plots and characters for the girl, is furnished for them to pick up.

Jack London isn't the only one to be tremendously influenced by the printed word.

This is officially the first week of spring.

Tinkling bells, and the clink of silver

IN A Chinese fairy story one reads about the Emperor's garden, where rare and colorful plants from all over the world were constantly flowering.

It was the duty of the honorable head gardener to watch for the most beautiful of blooms and tie to the stem of each a little silver bell. As the flowers swayed in the breeze the bells tinkled with sweet music. Thus the courtiers and the distinguished visitors, strolling along the paths, were sure to see the finest specimens.

This was the Emperor's way of saying, "I have something extra fine that you should see; look this way and you'll be repaid."

In the advertising columns of this paper are similar messages addressed to YOU. Our merchants are saying, "We have some extra values. We have some especially seasonable articles that you should see. Come to our stores and you will be repaid."

You have nothing to lose when you accept this invitation. In fact, when you fail to do so you're missing some of the very news for which you bought this paper!

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat—to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

Warning

Don't be misled by false statements. Calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills and drugs have no effect whatever on the liver or its production of bile. The truth of this statement can be proved by consulting the authoritative medical textbook published during the past five years.

There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to clean and purify itself by increasing the production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances, and no other strictly medicines on the American market today does contain them.—(Adv.)
